I'm looking for a scooter that can fit into a locker that is 16.5 inches deep and 9.5 inches wide (it's a tall locker, over 60 inches). The commute is 95% over flat smooth pavement, nothing steep or too bumpy. I'm about 185 pounds if that matters. I've looked at the Wheelspeed teen scooter from Walmart/amazon and the glion dolly.

You'd be far better off forgetting trying to put it into a trunk - locker and just live with it taking up a bit of space . It's not like a scooter takes up a whole lotta space to begin with . A bit of advice Don't leave anything such as a e scooter anywhere locked or ...

When in doubt, get a bigger locker. If you are thinking you can fit 2 backpacks in your small locker, maybe you can, but you may add things, or have a hard time fitting stuff back in the locker later. Just go bigger. If you ...

The bottom part was a standard locker, but super narrow. Those locker shelves that you can buy were always too wide. I could fit a few books in there and maybe hang a jacket. We had a multi-building school so I never left a jacket in there. It had a switch you can pull on that opened a separate box above that was twice the width of the bottom.

These differ from traditional wheelchairs as they are narrower and can fit into tighter spaces. Typically, a person will transfer into an aisle wheelchair at the entrance to the plane and staff will assist people with disabilities to their ...

A standard wheelchair is unlikely to fit through a 30-inch door. You can always give away the wheelchair to someone in need-- as I suggested earlier in the article. Alternatively, you can trim the edges of the door to widen it-- you will have to hire a carpenter or a joiner for this task. The choice is yours.

Yes, wheelchairs come in many different sizes but the common sizes are 26", 18", and 20". Keep in mind, they should fit the patient as well as fit the home. But, that can be a delicate balance.
